

FROM PEGGY TO POLLY.

Dearest Polly: Such a lot to tell you this week! First there's Myrtle Schuman's engagement. She announced it at a luncheon today and such a surprise as it was. Of course, we did know that when he was here, Shirwin Carson was mighty attentive, but we didn't expect it all to be so serious. Just think of our pretty Myrtle getting married and going away for keeps. I'm afraid that Mr. Shirwin Carson won't be so popular in Honolulu this time. Oh, well, such things do happen.

I must tell you, too, you remember my mentioning Brodie Smith as a Beau Brummell member of a fraternity in U. C., and how unlikely that seemed. Well, something of that sort came out of it and passed it in the first house. They say Brodie was angry, but I can't imagine the ever-almighty with anything but a most placid smile. He's going to be somebody's model husband yet.

Just think, Polly, coming down on the Wilhelmina there were six honey-moon couples. And each pretended to have been married—two years was the popular time. But curious folks suspected the secrets when coming across them in far-off corners all by themselves. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crockett of Los Angeles kept their secret longest. On Monday, the night before the boat landed, they had been married a week and told the party. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gettis couldn't keep it at all. They are from Denver and look as near like a "Christy" cover as any real people I have ever seen. Honolulu—Land of the Rainbow, as Katherine Vates calls it—is Honey-moon Land. But that is quite right; a rosy-tinted land is the place to spend such rosy-tinted hours as honeymoons call for.

We are going to be swamped with young collegians this year, too. Quite exciting, I think, and the girls are already putting on their best face and manners to greet the strangers. First the Stanford boys come on the 29th of this month to invade fair hearts and the baseball regions; and then one week after they leave, on the 29th of June, the popular California team—the champions—arrive. After that, in July, the California Glee Club comes and in the same month about 80 Yale students will visit the country on their way to the Orient. This will be rather interesting as there will be a number of millionaires in the party and the sparkle of diamond rings on some fair hands is almost a foregone conclusion. There will be many new faces on the Stanford team that was here two years ago. The absence of Walter Argabrite will be some thing, of course, though he is here in Honolulu and it will seem funny to him to play against his own school team. New faces, too, are among the Californians, as many of the boys on last year's team are graduated. But enough about baseball—we'll have quite enough of it when the visitors come.

Invitations are out to a June party by Edith Williams. What do you think, "Cubist and futurist" party? I think it is very original, but then she could be nothing but original. There are many quaint things planned and Abby Buchanan is going to do a dance. It is being looked forward to as one of the biggest things of the year, and well it might be.

The congressional party are all back today from the other islands and things in Honolulu are livelier again. Funny how they have made such a wave in the social world of this little city, isn't it? A good number of them came back on Tuesday morning among them being Senator and Mrs. Ollie James. Mr. James is a terrifically big man and a young boy told me the other day that once in Washington he carried a message to Mrs. James for his mother. He was rather fussed and when asked to sit down took the nearest chair. It proved to be the senator's easy chair and a very important one in which he composes all his political speeches. Well, he said that it embarrassed him even more for he was rather sensitive about his size and declared that six Jacks could as easily be sitting there as one. Finally the senator came in. The boy had never seen him before but immediately concluded that the chair belonged to the statesman. Incidentally, I guess Mr. James tells as many stories about himself as do his friends.

The Overman and Mattis girls have been enjoying a wonderful time, visiting at the different army posts and attending the dances on the Maryland. I have heard several things intimating which might spell C-P-P-I-D. Appropriately if some of our proud visiting fathers should lose their daughters in Hawaiian waters, wouldn't it be? I wouldn't blame the young officers though—the girls are wonders and as sweet and charming as can be. However, it may be only one of Dame Rumor's ruses and the fair daughters will go home care-free with dad. And now I must go, so good luck.

PEGGY.

Mrs. J. Wesley Thompson entertained at a delightfully appointed luncheon on Tuesday in honor of Mrs. A. B. Cummins, wife of the senator from Iowa, who is visiting here with the Congressional party.

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, May 14.

—Mrs. Edward Carey of the 1st Infantry cantonment gave a very much enjoyed bridge party, followed by a tea on Saturday last, entertaining for about 30 ladies of the five garrisons. Six tables were placed, at which the always popular voting game of auction was played. The highest score was held by Mrs. Henry Fales, who won a dainty silver bonbon dish; Mrs. Edmund Butts, with second high score, was given a most useful thermos carafe, and the consolation was a set of gold hat pins which was given to Mrs. Walter Pridgen. Among those present were Mesdames John Wisner, Robert Sears, Irving Phillips, Edmund Butts, D. L. Howell, Charles Everett, W. P. Kendall, George Whitsett, Jesse Ladd, Roland Gaugler, Harry Wells, Henry Fales, George Apple, George Bailey, Clyde Crusan, Campbell King, Rawson Warren, William Gardenhire, Walter Pridgen, Frank Burnett, John Fair, George Harris, Harry Knight, Wood, Charles Tamm, Brady Ruttenutter, Sumpter Bratton, Misses Anne Carpenter, Welcome Ayer and Mrs. Waldo Ayer, who poured at the pretty tea table.

On Thursday evening Lieut. and Mrs. Orville Tyler entertained at a dance which was given to celebrate Mrs. Tyler's eighteenth birthday. The attractive Cavalry Club was the scene of the affair and was beautiful in its setting of flowers and ferns. Great vases of American Beauty roses, clumps of white Ascension lilies and bunches of chrysanthemums stood everywhere, on table, mantels and in the corners of the rooms, which were dreamily lighted with suspension ropes of multi-colored Japanese lanterns. The Cavalry band alternated with an orchestra of Hawaiian singing boys, affording inspiring music for the dancers. Near the close of the evening a buffet supper was served, and the dancing resumed, afterward and enjoyed until a late hour.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Magoon, Mr. and Mrs. A. Magoon, Mr. Blakely McStocker, Mr. L. Roser, Mr. Sam Weller and Miss Robertson from Honolulu; Maj. and Mrs. Gideon Van Poo, Col. John McMahon, the Misses Carrie and Esther McMahon, Mr. John McCaulay, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Capt. Ferris, Capt. Harry Williams, Capt. and Mrs. Roger Mason, Lieut. Ballard Lyerly, Miss Dorothy Forsyth, Miss Hortense Short, Miss Norma Mason, Lieut. and Mrs. Richard Taylor, Lieut. V. V. Enyart, Otis Sadler, James Uilo, Wallace Philo, Col. George Sands, Capt. and Mrs. William Chitty, Capt. and Mrs. Lucius Holbrook, Capt. and Mrs. John O'Shea, Miss Sue Holcomb, Lieut. and Mrs. William Gardenhire, Capt. and Mrs. A. James Parker, Capt. and Mrs. John Fair, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Donaldson, Lieut. and Mrs. Alexander Milton, Capt. and Mrs. Gordon Kimball, Lieut. and Mrs. Philip Kieffer, Capt. and Mrs. John Boniface, Lieut. and Mrs. Roland Gaugler, Maj. and Mrs. Ralph Harrison, Lieut. R. C. Rodgers, Lieut. Wallace Hall, Lieut. and Mrs. Rawson Warren, Lieut. Mack Garr, Lieut. Harrison Richards, Lieut. and Mrs. Seth Cook and Miss Cook.

Mrs. Robert Sears was hostess on Wednesday afternoon at a delightful auction party of five tables. A dainty two-course "tea" followed at the close of the games, with Miss Hamilton presiding at the inviting tea table, assisted by Mrs. Manton Mitchell and Miss Anne Carpenter. Vases of ascension lilies and golden yellow coreopsis made the house fragrant, while pink snapdragons on the tea table gave a delicate color. Those who enjoyed Mrs. Sears' hospitality were Mesdames Ralph Harrison, Henry Fales, Manton Mitchell, Charles Everett, Harry Wells, Frank Burnett, Madame McCleave, Franklin Rice, George Whitsett, Wood, Edward Carey, Clyde Crusan, Pelham Glassford, Jesse Ladd, George Gay, Walter Pridgen, Percy Deshon, Campbell King, George Bailey, George Harris, Miss Hamilton, Miss Carpenter and Mrs. William Aiken. Mrs. Harrison was given the first prize, with high score, which was a Canton linen embroidered tea cloth. Mrs. Fales won the second, which was a pair of dressing table candle-sticks of Cantonware, and

Mrs. George Gay won third, a cake plate of Dresden china.

The Misses Carrie and Esther McMahon gave a delightful supper party on Wednesday, entertaining for 14 guests. Two tables with unique decorations of pink and lavender were placed for the supper. The centerpiece of each table was a gaily colored May-pole with streamers of lavender and pink twined about the pole and leading to each place, a profusion of pink and lavender sweet peas being bunched about the base of each pole and strewn over the table, giving a dainty and fragrant effect. Covers were placed for the Misses Ruth Harrison, Dorothy Forsyth, Anne Carpenter, Carrie and Esther McMahon, Lieut. Harold Huntley, William McCulloch, Walter Winton, Eugene Fales, Walter Robertson, James Uilo, V. V. Enyart and Lieut. and Mrs. Russell Maxwell.

On Tuesday Mrs. Livingston Watrous gave an auction party of four tables, which was followed by a delicious tea. At each table the pivoting game was played with Mesdames Butts, Mapes, Apple and Deshon holding the winning scores at the end of the afternoon. The prizes were very attractive auction sets, consisting of six packs of cards, scores and pencils. Present were Mesdames William McCleave, Americus Mitchell, Henry Lantry, Edmund Butts, George Gay, George Whitsett, Clyde Crusan, William Mapes, Charles Meals, Percy Deshon, George Apple, William Ganoce, Carl Reichman, Alexander Milton, William Gardenhire and Madame McCleave.

Lieut. and Mrs. William Gardenhire gave a hop supper on Thursday before the Tyler dance, entertaining for 24 guests. Tables, at which were seated four guests each, were prettily decorated with graceful arrangements of Shasta daisies and pink carnations. Those present were Capt. and Mrs. John O'Shea, Miss Holcomb, Col. Sands, Capt. and Mrs. Gordon Kimball, Capt. and Mrs. Lucius Holbrook, Lieut. and Mrs. Orville Tyler, Lieut. and Mrs. Philip Kieffer, Capt. and Mrs. John Boniface, Lieut. and Mrs. Alexander, Lieut. and Mrs. Roland Gaugler, Capt. and Mrs. John Fair, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Donaldson and Lieut. Mack Garr.

Capt. and Mrs. George Apple entertained at dinner this evening, their guests later appearing at the hop. Covers were placed for eight at a table prettily decorated with pink carnations and feathery ferns, and the guests were Col. and Mrs. William Forsyth, Maj. and Mrs. Edmund Gose, Mrs. William McCleave and Maj. William Guignard.

Lieut. and Mrs. William Dodds gave a dinner on the same evening. One large table was used at which the guests were seated, the predominating color of which was yellow. A basket of yellow coreopsis filled the center of the table in graceful profusion and glass candle-sticks with yellow unshaded candles, carried out the color scheme. Places were set for Mrs. Henry Lantry, Mrs. George Whitsett, Lieut. and Mrs. Joseph Daly, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Lieut. Ballard Lyerly, Capt. S. S. Creighton and Lieut. and Mrs. George Gay, Mr. Ceyton and Lieut. and Mrs. Dodds.

Mrs. Ray Baker Rietow and her elder son, Ray Gibson Rietow, who last week celebrated his second birthday.

On the Tuesday before the transport sailed for the Coast, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Crusan entertained at dinner in honor of Capt. Henry Fales, who left the next day on a two-months' leave. Capt. Fales will spend part of that time at West Point, where his son, Clark Fales, is completing his "yearling" year in the Corps of Cadets. Cadet Fales will return here with his father in July and spend the two months of the highly prized furlough at Schofield Barracks.

Incoming passengers on the Wilhelmina on Monday were Miss Constance Ayer and her guest, Miss Ruth Barclay, who will spend the summer here as Col. and Mrs. Ayer's house-guest before returning to Berkeley in the fall to resume her studies. Col. and Mrs. Ayer entertained at dinner on Tuesday in honor of Miss Ayer and Miss Ruth Barclay. Their guests were Mr. McCaulay, Lieut. Haig Shekerjian and Lieut. Franklin Whitley.

Lieut. and Mrs. Rawson Warren entertained on Tuesday, giving a dinner of 10 covers. Red and white characterized the effective decorations of a prettily appointed table, with a large bowl of red and white phlox forming the centerpiece. Present were Maj. and Mrs. William Cruikshank, Capt. and Mrs. Douglas McCaskey, Lieut. and Mrs. William Ganoce, Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillips and the host and hostess.

Capt. and Mrs. Lucius Holbrook gave an attractive hop supper on Wednesday evening before the hop, entertaining for Maj. and Mrs. Ralph Harrison, Col. George Sands, Capt. and Mrs. James Parker, Lieut. and Mrs. Philip Kieffer, Capt. and Mrs. Roger Mason, Lieut. and Mrs. Ivens Jones, Lieut. and Mrs. Roland Gaugler, Lieut. and Mrs. Rawson Warren and Lieut. and Mrs. Orville Tyler.

Another army son who will enter West Point this year is young Sam Sturgis, son of Col. S. D. Sturgis of the 1st Field Artillery. Young Sturgis has been preparing for West Point at school in Minnesota, and did not expect to be appointed until next year, but some fortunate circumstance rendered it possible for him to take the examination this spring and he will enter the corps in the fall.

The many friends of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Offley, who until quite recently have been members of the garrison, will be glad to hear of the appointment of their son, Robert Offley, to West Point, to enter this year. Mr. Offley took the competitive examination, having been appointed "at large," and passed very creditably, coming out number five in a class of over 90.

Mrs. Franklin Rice entertained in honor of Miss Hamilton, Lieut. and Mrs. Sears house-guest, on Friday, giving an attractive afternoon tea. Those invited to meet Miss Hamilton were Mesdames Wiley, Harry Malone, Sumpter Bratton and William Aiken.

For the coming week-end Capt. and Mrs. Clyde B. Crusan will have as house-guests Mesdames Ince, Mrs. Borland and on, sister of Mrs. Cullop, Cullop of V. Wednesday night hops in the Kate Fullerton Service Club are becoming more and more popular and the one mounted on place this week was attended by a very large number of people which took representative of each cantonment. The family bible is more ornate than usual.
